? AREAS FOR DEVELOPMENT - What Needs Work

1. Impact Tracking

"You can't improve what you don't measure, and you can't prove value without data"

Current Challenge Explained: Right now, saying you'll "impact 1500 people" is like saying you'll "make people happy" - it's a nice goal, but how do you know when you've achieved it? Without clear measurements, it's hard to:

- Show funders your program works
- Know what to improve
- Understand if you're making a difference

What Good Impact Tracking Looks Like:

Before: "We'll impact 1500 people"

After: "In our last cohort:

- 90% of interns gained new technical skills
- 85% found employment within 3 months
- Each intern connected with 5 new mentors
- 70% stayed involved with FYP after graduating"

Practical Steps to Start:

1. Create a Simple Tracking System
 - Use Google Sheets (free and easy)
 - Start with basic numbers:
 - Number of applications
 - Completion rate
 - Project success rate
 - Post-program engagement
2. Measure Intern Growth
 - Skills assessment (before & after)
 - Confidence levels
 - Network growth
 - Career progress
3. Track Program Health
 - Mentor satisfaction
 - Resource utilization
 - Cost per intern
 - Community engagement

Real World Example: Think of it like a fitness journey. You don't just say "I want to get healthy" - you track specific things like weight, running speed, or strength. The same applies here - track specific, meaningful changes in your interns and program.

📖 Essential Reading:

1. "Lean Impact" by Ann Mei Chang
 - Perfect for beginners
 - Lots of practical examples
 - Step-by-step guidance
2. "Measuring Social Impact" by Marc J. Epstein
 - More advanced concepts
 - Good for future growth
 - Comprehensive frameworks

2. Program Sustainability

“A program that can't sustain itself can't help others”

Current Challenge Explained: Your program currently feels like a car without a fuel gauge - you know you need resources to run, but you're not sure how much you have or where to get more. This makes it hard to:

- Plan for the future
- Support your team
- Scale your impact

Key Components of Sustainability:

1. Financial Planning

Basic Costs to Consider:

- Direct costs (intern stipends, materials)
- Indirect costs (platform subscriptions, tools)
- Hidden costs (staff time, mentorship hours)
- Emergency fund (unexpected expenses)

2. Resource Management

- Human Resources:
 - Mentor availability
 - Staff capacity
 - Volunteer engagement
- Material Resources:
 - Technology needs
 - Training materials
 - Communication tools

3. Partnership Development

- Potential Partners:
 - Local businesses
 - Universities
 - Foundations
 - Corporate sponsors
 - Government agencies
- What to Offer Partners:
 - Access to talent
 - Social impact metrics
 - Community engagement
 - Brand association

Practical Steps to Start:

1. Month 1: Basic Financial Planning
 - List ALL costs (even small ones)
 - Calculate cost per intern
 - Identify funding gaps
2. Month 2: Resource Mapping
 - Document current resources
 - List needed resources
 - Identify potential sources
3. Month 3: Partnership Building
 - Research potential partners
 - Create simple pitch deck
 - Start outreach

Real World Example: Think of program sustainability like maintaining a garden. You need:

- Regular resources (water, sunlight)
- Different types of support (soil, fertilizer)
- Long-term planning (seasonal changes)
- Community help (gardeners, tools)

3. Quality Standards

“Quality isn't expensive, it's priceless - especially when working with young people's futures”

Current Challenge Explained: Your program is like a restaurant where each chef cooks differently - some meals might be amazing, others just okay. Without standards:

- Each intern gets a different experience
- Mentors aren't sure what "good" looks like
- It's hard to guarantee program value
- Difficult to train new team members

Key Components of Quality Standards:

1. Mentor Standards

Basic Requirements:

- Weekly check-ins (minimum 30 minutes)
- Monthly progress reviews
- Regular feedback sessions
- Professional communication
- Response time expectations

2. Program Experience Standards

Core Elements:

- Onboarding process
- Learning milestones
- Project requirements
- Skill development tracking
- Community engagement

3. Documentation Standards

- Required Documentation:
 - Intern progress reports
 - Project outcomes
 - Learning achievements
 - Feedback collected
 - Issues addressed

Practical Steps to Start:

1. Create Basic Handbooks

- Mentor Handbook:
 - Role expectations
 - Meeting requirements
 - Communication guidelines
 - Problem-solving procedures
- Intern Handbook:
 - Program overview
 - Expected commitments
 - Project guidelines
 - Available resources

2. Establish Simple Review Systems

- Weekly Check Format:
 - What was accomplished?
 - What challenges arose?
 - What support is needed?
 - Next week's goals
- Monthly Review Format:
 - Skills developed
 - Projects completed
 - Goals achieved
 - Areas for improvement

3. Build Quality Checkpoints

- Program Milestones:
 - Orientation completion
 - Project initiation
 - Mid-program review
 - Final presentation
 - Exit interview

Real World Example: Think of quality standards like a recipe book. Even if different chefs make the same dish, following the same basic recipe ensures everyone gets a good meal. Your standards ensure every intern gets a valuable experience.

📖 Essential Reading:

1. "Quality Standards Handbook" by The Mentoring Partnership
2. "The Mentor's Guide: Facilitating Effective Learning Relationships" by Lois J. Zachary

4. Growth Strategy

“Growth without breaking what makes you special”

Current Challenge Explained: Your program is like a growing plant without a trellis - lots of potential but needs structure to grow strong. Without a growth strategy:

- Hard to plan resources
- Difficult to maintain quality while expanding
- Risk of losing core values
- Missed opportunities for impact

Key Components of Growth Strategy:

1. Vision Planning

Key Questions to Answer:

- Where do we want to be in 1 year?
- What impact do we want to have?
- How many interns can we support?
- What resources will we need?

2. Scaling Pathways

- Geographic Expansion:
 - New locations
 - Virtual programs
 - Hybrid models
- Program Expansion:
 - New tracks
 - Additional skills
 - Deeper specializations
- Community Growth:
 - Partner organizations
 - Alumni network
 - Mentor community

3. Growth Infrastructure

- Available mentors
- Resource utilization
- Program costs
- Success metrics

2. Month 2: Planning

Create Growth Plan:

- Set realistic targets
- Identify resource needs

- List potential barriers
- Plan mitigation strategies

3. Month 3: Preparation

Build Infrastructure:

- Develop training materials
- Create standard processes
- Establish monitoring systems
- Set up feedback loops

Growth Readiness Checklist:

- ☐ Core program documented
- ☐ Quality standards established
- ☐ Mentor training system created
- ☐ Resources secured
- ☐ Impact metrics defined
- ☐ Support systems in place
- ☐ Team capacity confirmed
- ☐ Risk management plan created

Real World Example: Think of growth like franchising a successful restaurant. Before opening new locations, you need:

- Documented recipes (processes)
- Training systems (mentor development)
- Quality controls (standards)
- Supply chain (resources)
- Customer feedback (impact measurement)

Common Growth Pitfalls for Beginners:

1. Growing too fast
2. Forgetting core values
3. Neglecting quality
4. Underestimating resource needs
5. Losing personal touch

Solutions:

- Start with small expansions
- Document everything

- Build systems before growing
- Keep mission central
- Stay connected to community

📖 Essential Reading:

1. "Scaling Up Excellence" by Robert Sutton and Huggy Rao
